JANUARY 1976

FROM THE EDITOR

Please note: This volume of the newsletter, the first for the year 1976 bears the designation - Volume VIII, Number 1. We have not been using the numbers for some time, but plan to continue doing this to help members keep their newsletters in sequence.

A little bit of information about the articles in this issue:

UNUSUAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE ORLANDO LIBRARY - The material discussed in this article should be most helpful to those of you who have reached back to England in their research. Our thanks to Mr. Ireland for his thoughtfulness in giving this material to the library.

DAVID PURDY SIAS - This material was given to Mrs. Alice Rupe by a member of the Sias family. Anyone interested in reading more about this family will find a book by Azariah Boody Sias, Ph.D on the biography shelf at the Library. This article was written in 1951 and given to Mrs. Rupe in March of 1975.

LIST OF REGISTERED VOTERS IN ORANGE COUNTY, FLORIDA 1876. This list will be completed in the April issue. If anyone knows of a similar article that we might publish, it would be appreciated.

PRE-REVOLUTIONARY WAR CEMETERY - Seeing this cemetery, with so many missing headstones makes one realize the value of taking a record of every cemetery you find. Please remember this when you find small old cemeteries that you know may be lost to everyone in a few years. We realize the difficulty in recording large cemeteries, but small ones take only a short time.

RECENT ACQUISITIONS OF THE ORLANDO PUBLIC LIBRARY - This is one of the most valuable articles published each quarter. Isn't it nice just to check your old newsletters to see what the library has acquired since you were last there. Even if you are at the library often, it is difficult to know just what is there. Our thanks to Mrs. Willis and her department.

MINE BEFORE ME - Mrs. Eileen Libke is one of our newer members, and we thank her for sending this information. Wouldn't it be nice if all the members did the same. We do have articles from Mrs. Verna McDowell and Mrs. Agnes Kasper that will be published soon.

FROM AN OLD LAND ABSTRACT - We also have one other land abstract to publish next issue.

MAPS - Our thanks to Mr. Allen Taylor for this most valuable information. We have been advised that maps amy also be purchased from HERITAGE PAPERS, Danielsville, Georgia 30633.

UNUSUAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE ORLANDO LIBRARY

经财产股份 化电子通道 机分子的 化分子的 化乙基化合物 化化合物

While Mr, Robert Q. Ireland of New York City was in England doing genealogical research, he transcribed various records in entirety, which he knew to be unpublished. Mr. Ireland has become very conversant with published materials available, both in England and in this country.

For example, the rate lists have been somewhat ignored in research materials. These were compilations for tax assessment, made by both the church and the crown, in such the same way our tax assessor estimates our taxes. If an ancestor moved into a parish, he might not appear in the parish records of births and deaths. But he would be charged with taxes if he lived there.

Mr. Ireland purchased and made copies of lists published in London, such as church wardens' accounts of the parishes of London and the dates for which they are available.

Several unpublished lists, Mr. Ireland presented to the Genealogist's Magazine, published in London, which they have acknowledged and printed in the September issue, available at the Orlando Public Library. He made presentations to the New York City Library also, but otherwide he has sold these lists to libraries across the nation.

These are rare acquisitions, since the majority of researchers in this country seek their own interests, and do not take the time to transcribe entire lists for the benefit of others, when making expensive journeys to England.

Mr. Ireland is the son of member, Mrs. Mary Jane Knisely.

Following is a list of information that Mr. Ireland presented to the Orlando Public Library:

London Inhabitants Lists from some Unpublished Parishes, 1574 - 1642 Transcribed from original manuscripts at the Guildhall Library, London. This is a 22 page manuscript, comprising the parishes of:

All Hallowes the Great (burnt)
St. Martin Orgar (burnt)
St. Lawrence Pountney (Unpublished)
 (including extracts from the Baptismal register)
St. Clement Bastcheap (Published)

DAVID PURDY SIAS

(The name Sias is French, originally Sieyes)

Members of the Sias family have lived in Florida for the last sixty-five years, D. P. Sias, however, did not come to Florida until he had looked the states over rather carefully, had lived in five, ranging from Rochester, New York to Rochester, Minnesota, and finally decided to make a thorough investigation of Florida. This was in 1912, and in 1914, thirty-eight years ago, he moved from Souix City, Iowa, with his wife and family of three, to Orlando, having decided that this area of central Florida is the best place in the world to live the year around and raise a family. He has never changed his mind.

Mr. Sias' ancestors settled in 1698 in southeastern New Hampshire, near Dover, in a section later known as Durham. By the time of the Revolutionary War his ancestors of the third generation had moved to Canterbury, New Hampshire and settled in the town of Loudon. Six of the Sias name served in the Revolution, including D. P. Sias' great, great grandfather, Charles Sias, Sr.

After the Revolution, the family moved to northern Vermont, and after three generations, moved to Rochester, New York. One reason for the family moving to Rochester, New York was that Jeremiah Kittredge Sias' brother-in-law, Azarian Boody, was then building the Falls Branch of the New York Central Railroad from Rochester to Niagra Falls. Later he went west to build the Wabash Railroad, and after completion, asked his nephew, Daniel Boody Sies, D. F. Sims' father, to go to Indiana and take charge of a station at Logansport. After the Civil Was Danial B. Sias went to Rochester, Minnesota to engage in the nursery business with his brother, Alonzo W. Sias. There D. F. Sias was born in 1872.

In 1876 his father, Daniel B. Sias, returned with his family to the farm near Rochester, New York where D. P. grew up. He attended the Brockport State Teachers College, engaged in logging at Tonawanda, was with the H. H. Babcock Coal Company for eight years, and then went West to Waterloo, Iowa, where he was with the Leavitt and Johnson Trust Company for several years. Here he found and married his wife, Wilhelmine Ramsey Hogg, a Canadian and a Scot. From there he went to Souix City, Iowa, and was with the Orcutt Hardware Company. From Souis City, Iowa, D. P. Sias brought his family to Orlando, Florida, in 1914, and claimed he had at last found the ideal home. D. P. Sias' uncle, Alonzo W. Sias, had made up his mind back in 1890 that Rochester, Minnesota was too cold and came to Florida, settling at Charlotte Harbor. His grandson, Alonzo Sias, is now Postmaster at Clewiston on Lake Okeechobee.

D. P. Sias decided that Florida was an idea place to sell real estate, because here you could sell real estate and tell the truth. He started right out in 1915 to help develop Central Florida and Orlando.

DAVID PURDY SIAS (continued)

D. P. Sias began this work of development in 1915 in the area around his own home on Lake Lucy (which he named after his mother, Lucy Hebarts Burger Sias) where he interested the Florida Good Homes Company, cleared roads and blocked out a new sub-division, which is now known as Woodsmere. This sub-division has been settled by many widely known families from many states of the Union. Six of the men are listed in Who's Who.

D. P. Sias and his companies have developed Lancaster Park, De Sota Beach, Ivanhoe Shores, Princeton Court, and others. He was instrumental in starting the Port Canaveral Terminal Company in 1926 and was one of its first Directors. From this beginning the present Canaveral Harbor is now being brought to a successful finish by others.

Mr. Sias was chairman of a committee of three, including William Edwards of Zellwood, that started the dipping of cattle, which has finally rid Florida of the cattle tick. He was a director of the State Ani-Mosquite Association which led to a great reduction of the mosquito and malaria fever menace. Mr. Sias also served as the first President of the Orlando Parents and Teachers Association, which was organized in what is now the City Hall, but was at that time the only public school building in Orlando, housing both the elementary school and the high school.

Joe Tinker, D. F. Sias and Fred Baxter were a committee of three that built Tinker Field and later sold it to the Cincinnati Reds. Mr. Sias was the Treasurer of the First Athletic Association that equipped the gymnasium in the new High School on Lake Eola.

In 1918 D. P. Sias was asked to serve in the Y.M.C.A. overseas army work for World War K, and served in Paris until the end of the war. He was Assistant Business Manager of the Paris Division, and rented, equipped and managed the Hotel Rochester, which housed four hundred of our United States soldiers and furnished entertainment for them as they came and went on their leaves. Later he was sent to Le Havre to manage the Y.M.C.A.'s three hotels there.

Mr. Sias is a member of the Orlando Board of Realtors and a former president, a member of the University Club of Winter Park, the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce, The Orange County Chamber of Commerce and The First Presbyterian Church. He still enjoys a good game of tennis although 79 years of age.

D. P. Sias lost his wife, Wilhelmine Ramsey Sias, December 25, 1950. She is buried in the family plot in the Winter Park Cemetery. They had three children, Richard Alan, Frederick Ralph and Marion. Richard is Vice President of the American Machinery Corporation, with plant on Route 441. Ralph is employed in the General Electric Laboratories located at Lynn, Massachusette and has 20 patents in his credit, 17 patents in 1975. Marion, (Mrs. Geier) is a salesman in the real estate office of Ray Greene in Winter Park. Both boys are graduates of the University of Florida, Engineering Department. Marion attended the Florida State University at Tallahassee, and Rollins College.

Richard married Phyllis Chamberlain and has four young children, Jean, David, Barbara and John. Ralph married Mildred Hogg and has two children, Tonmy, a junior at the University of Florida, and Peggy entering Rollins. Marion married Richard Geier and has two children, Bill, a graduate of the University of Florida, entering the Air Force as a specialist at Dayton, Ohio, and Ann, a sophomore at Rollins.

The latest arrivals of the Sias family in Orlando are Azariah Boody Sias, Ph.D., Professor Emeritus of Ohio University, brother of D. P. Sias, and his wife and son, Dr. Charles Robert Sias and his wife and f family. Dr. Charles Robert Sias came as a resident surgeon for Orange Memorial Hospital and served as Orange County Physician. He now has his private practice on Edgewater Drive, College Park. Mr. A. Emerson Babcock, son of the Sias brothers' sister, Blanche Sias Babcock, came to Orlando recently with his wife and he is with Harry P. Leu.

You will find D. P. Sias' real estate office at 12-14 Magruder Arcade, where his brother, A. B. Sias, has joined him as associate. Both brothers live at Woodsmere, Lake Lucy, Orange County.

Footnote: D. P. Sias died - age 91 - Feb. 7, 1963.

THE BROWSING CORNER

"Browsing" this time meant "Traveling". With a most delightful companion, Mrs. Mary Jane Knisely. Mrs. Knisely takes many genealogical research trips and as she drove through Georgia had often seen a sign that read PRE-REVOLUTIONARY WAR CEMETERY, but had not had time to stop to see what was there.

After much thought she wrote to the City Hall in Louisville, Georgia for information. She received a letter giving her the name of Mrs. Louise McMillan, with the suggestion that she write her. Mrs. McMillan immediately answered the letter of inquiry. After giving a small amount of information, she extended an invitation to Mrs. Knisely. Wou'd she stay with the McMillans' while in Louisville so they could show her much more of the area. The McMillans' also gave her permission to bring a friend.

In November of 1975, we two, left for Louisville, Georgia, not knowing we would find such a wealth of information as we did. The City of Louisville was the first Capital of Georgia, but is still a very small town - one in which you may walk about in the evening without fear. We (at night) visited the old slave market which still contains the bell used in the 1700's. If any of you have the opportunity to visit this area, be sure to take a walk down Main Street to this market.

While in Louisville, we were able to copy four cemeteries, the Pre-Revolutionary Cemetery (census of which will follow), the Battey Family Cemetery, the Ebenezer Presbyterian Church Cemetery and one small family cemetery that we discovered while driving home. We will publish the other three census records later.

PRE-REVOLUTIONARY WAR CEMETERY, LOUISVILLE, GEORGIA

The history of this cemetery was given us by Mrs. Raiford (Louise Warren) McMillan, a life long resident of Louisville. Mrs. McMillan stated that she remembered visiting the cemetery as a child. At that time there were about four hundred graves there. A hurricane came through the area, blowing down many trees which broke and knocked over many of the headstones. When the trees were being removed the broken and turned over stones were also removed and thrown away. Through the years many other stones have been removed. Several years ago, some of the townspeople wanted to remove the remaining stones and use the property for some other purpose, but Mrs. McMillan learned of the plan and with the help of others convinced the city fathers that the cemetery should remain.

MINE BEFORE ME

by Eileen Flaig Libke

As a tribute to my pioneering ancestors who settled in the beautiful Ridgeville area I would like to write this story.

We can be sure the reason these people left their roots was to find a better way of life, for it was said in Germany "the rich got richer and the poor got poorer". Then there was almost constant war and strife. How hard and sad it must have been saying their goodbyes and leaving their parents and loved ones behind. Many felt that they buried their parents alive, never having been able to return to their homeland. Then upon their arrival finding that the shores of America were not lined with gold as the advertisements stated. Many had their savings wiped out by land sharks who greeted them as they left the boat. But life does go on and these pioneers meant to make their way in the New World. And what better place than Ridgeville, Wisconsin with its beautiful hills and valleys.

Many years ago, around 1856, Johann Jochem Casper Lubke left his homeland at New Herzfeld, Germany bringing with him his three children, two sons and a daughter, Christian, John, Jr., and Mary. His wife Anna Maria Sophia Dorothea Friemann had died in May of 1856 at New Herzfeld.

The first of the name Libke I have found was Jochim Lubbeke who was born about 1640. He married Sanna Sukow on April 18, 1666 at Muchow, Germany. She was the daughter of Jochim Sukow from Karrenzin, Germany. They had a son Jochim Lubeke who was torn June 9, 1669 at Muchow. He was a farmer and Burgemaster (mayor). On February 16, 1698 at Muchow he married Catharina Schult. Their son Johann Lubeke was born January 6, 1708 at Huchow and died March 5, 1756 at the same place. He married there in 1740 Maria Bartels. Their son Jochem Christian was torn March 16, 1756 and died 1814 at Luchow. Here he practised farming. He married in 1787 Catharine Susanna Jhlrich who was the daughter of Johann Ohlrich. Their son Johann Jochem Casper Lubke was born September 12, 1800 at Muchow, Mechlenburg, Germany. He died May 3, 1886 at Plankinton, South Dakota. He married November 1, 1833 at Muchow to Anna Maria Sophia Dorothea Freimann who was the daughter of Jhristian Ernst Friemann and Maria Rabe. She was born December 23, 14 Muchow and died May 3, 1856 at New Herzfeld, Germany. Their children vere: Johann Joachim Friedrich born 1834, died 1836; Johann Jochim Christian Jorn 1836 at Euchow died at Monroe County, Wisconsin. He married Mary Linke; Maria Hanna Catherine born 1839 at Muchow; a daughter born dead in 1845; Johann Joachim Heinrich born November 8, 1848 at New Herzfeld, Germany.

So now with both of his parents and wife gone and times as they were e felt it was time to go to America. It appears as though when they landed hey journeyed to Ridgeville. They may have stopped at Milwaukee, Wisconsin out not to stay, for on July 14, 1857 John, Sr. purchased his farm in 'idgeville. He remained there until October of 1885 when he left to live 'ith his daughter Mary, who had married <sup>C</sup>hristian Muller and was living at lankinton, South Dakota. There on May 3, 1886 he died and is buried there.

A little further west were some more of my pioneering ancestors who again had left their homeland to seek a better way of life.

Albert Ebert (John Micheal, Lorenz, John George) was born 1846 at Diebach, Germany and died 1928 near Norwalk, Wisconsin. He married about 1872 to Elisabeth Hufner (Anton, Johann) who was born March 4, 1846 at Thulba, Germany.

In the years 1864-5 Albert fought in the War of the German Brothers. On one side fought the Pusia and the other side fought the Austrians and the Bavarians. In this war there was only the active and the reserve so they did not draft. The Pusia won and the last battle was fought near Hammelburg.

About 1872, they said their hard to say goodbyes, loaded her trunk with gifts given to her by her parents and boarded the boat that took them to America. Grandmother said the boat moved when the wind blew. I believe the boat landed at New York and from there they located at West Grove, Pa. Worked in coal mines. Here at West Grove a daughter Mary Josephine was born on January 13, 1873 and a son Joseph Adolf was born April 7, 1875. It was shortly after the birth of their son that they began the westward movement finally settling at Ridgeville, Wisconsin. Here more children were born.

Joseph Ebert married Josephine Donskey the daughter of John Donskey and Josephine Graczyk. They had a daughter Laurinda K. Ebert.

Now lets go yet a little further west where we find the John J. Flaig John Gottfried, Samuel, John, Solomon, John) family living. When Grandfather John J. Flaig was but a young lad he left his homeland and came to Ridgeville. He was born 1863 at Weiler, Baden, Germany and died 1937 at parta, Wisconsin. He married 1890 to Eva Semann the daughter of Peter ranz Semann and Anna Maria Schmitt. Their son Edward V 3 born in 1897 and married Laurinda K. Ebert. ....These are my parents....

GENEALOGICAL WORKSHOP 1976

This year's GENEALOGICAL WORKSHOP will be an especially good one. We are fortunate to be able to obtain a special workshop program provided by the Everton Publishers, entitled "TEN FASCINATING STEPS TO A PLANNED RESEARCH PROGRAM."

The program will be held in the auditorium of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 45 Par Avenue, Winter Park, Florida, on Saturday, March 27, 1976.

Registration is at 9:00 A.M. and the program will last until "teatime". Box lunches and refreshments will be available.

In addition to the lectures there will be displays and demonstrations. Additional information will be released at a later date.

This workshop is open to our members and the public, and will provide an excellent opportunity to learn the most successful and reliable techniques of discovering persons living in the past.
