Spring, 1997

Dear Members and Frienda

Spring brings changes in many forms, and my entry into the President's position a bit earlier than anticipated, is one of those changes. I wish to thank Sherry Mertz for her dedication and drive as she worked to make our position known in the community. Many thanks to those who are allowing me to step in after Sherry. I look forward to working with our board members and other volunteers as we strive to maintain the progress made in the past, and progress to new heights in the future.

We had a successful spring workshop in April with approximately 70 attendees. Our speakers were all society members, (Ann Mohr Osisek, Laura Hooks, and Ervin Patrick), and offered interesting presentations which can help us in our research efforts.

Our society has seen a resurgence of interest in publishing materials which were previously not easily available. As a result, there has been one completed volume of cemetery records, and another will be published in the immediate future. Also, we contributed time and effort to the index of Family Histories in the Orlando Public Library in cooperation with the East Central Florida Genealogical Society Co-op. Included in future efforts will be extractions of Orange County marriage records, as well as more cemetery records. Publication of these records and others is an important aspect of our contributions to the world of genealogy, and anyone who can help with these efforts is welcome.

As the summer approaches, our minds turn to travel and research on a grander scale than we can accomplish at other times of the year. Visits to the communities where our ancestors lived and worked help to make our past come alive. I hope each of you who plans to travel will take pictures, use camcorders and tape recorders, and soak up the atmosphere of the areas you visit and the people you see. When you return, be sure to share your stories with us so that we can share your enthusiasm. I am personally looking forward to meeting a distant cousin with whom I've been in correspondence for about two years. He is related on my mother's side and is one of the few remaining people who have an interest in continuing our family story - what a find! He's been editing diaries for several years, and I look forward to seeing them and learning more about my Dickerson connections. I wish you all safe and successful summers and look forward to sharing your experiences with you when you return.

The Early Towns of Central Florida Gotha

Gotha (pronounced Go tha) is now a small community west of Orlando with a Post Office, middle school, country store and residential areas. But in its heyday, Gotha was a thriving town with schools, churches, railroad service, a social hall and a sawmill

The town of Gotha was the creation of H. A. Hempel, who wanted to form a German town in Central Florida and named it Gotha after his birthplace in Germany. When Hempel arrived, the area was a small settlement in western Orange County, with no name and few residents. Among those already in the area were Edward Bann, Frank Murray and Gus Mohr. H. P. Belknap, a young school teacher from Cinconnati, had settled a year or two earlier. Hempel, who had received a payment for a patent on an unprovement to the printing press, paid a reported 25 cents per acre to buy land from the federal government. In order to encourage settlers in his new town, Mr Hempel sent advertisements to towns in the north, telling of the opportunity and beauty of Central Florida. As, families arrived, Hempel planted groves, built a sawmill and opened a grocery to provide employment for the new settlers. Hempel also paid a man to deliver mail from Orlando, a four hour trip by nscari.

Another prominent citizen of Gotha was botaoust Henry Nehrling, who bought 80 acres in 1884 and developed a 10 acre garden, where he gathered local specimen plants and experimented with imported planting from around the world.

Zion Lutheran Church was formed in 1887 and a church house built in 1894 with Rev. Carl Brommer as pastor. While that building no longer exists, the small cemetery remains in a wooded area off what is now Morton Jones Road, near Hempel Road

The "great freeze of 1894/5" wiped out the citrus groves of Gotha. Most of the German settlers became discouraged and moved away. Only the few hardy souls who remained and

Member Profile

Lorraine Block Hanson was born in Hutchinson, McLeod County, Minnesota, and was raised on a farm, where her family raised Holstein cattle. She has one younger sister. She attended a small rural school, and completed here education there at Hutchinson High School. She worked as a secretary in the McLeod County courthouse during the depression, and expressed frustration with the quota system for farmers that let to much waste of crops and livestock.

Matried November 2, 1937, she and her hunband Alvin, raised one son and now have two grandsons. Lorraine and Al came to Orlando on February 15, 1958, after the doctors advised Al to leave the cold weather. Al was able to continue his work as a general contractor, contributing to significant additions in the Orlando area his work. He also ters of the Sons of ented them in the Lorraine worked as Slover Realty and tal properties. Afhad stalls in flea

The work she has done will be passed on to her grandsons who are showing some interest in genealogy. Her great-grandfather Phillip Block was her immigrant ancestor, and his home was the original meeting place of St. John U. C. Church in the period between 1865 - 1868. Lorraine and Al were included in the history of the St. John U. C. Church of Biscay, Minnesota, on the occasion of the church's 125th anniversary. Also in recent years she and her husband were included in the extensive Hanson family genealogy which begins in Norway. Her niece by marriage is our society member, Martha Wedin Nelson, #435.

Lorraine enjoys gardening when she has time but her preferred hobby is sewing. She does a lot of this for her church, which is Park Lake Presbyterian Church, turning out haby bibs, high chair covers, and sheets for their nursery, and other supplies for home bealth organizations.

Orlando Street Names

Orlando, when innerporated in 1875, had boundary lines of what are today. Marks Street on the north, Copeland Drive on the south (near the hospital), Fern Creek on the east and Orange Blossom Trail on the west – "one mile due east, one mile due west, one mile due south and one mile due north of the courthouse, forming a square." The 1881 map of the original town of Orlando showed only four streets – Oak (new Wall) Street, Main (new Magnolia) Street, Central Avenue and Court Street

Amelia Avenue	Named for the wife of C. H. Munger, who was mayur of Orlando in 1878. Mr. Manger was also one of the owners of the Reporter, one of Orlando's first newspapers.
Anderson Street	Named for Julius Anderson from Covington, GA who was Orange County sheriff from 1887 to 1890 His home was in the woods at the corner of Anderson and Eola. He was in the Civil War, participating in 37 battles and was a prisoner of war for none months. Mrs. James Delaney (see Delaney Street) was his sister.
Amse Street	Named for the wife of Burchard Kahl, a builder and merchant in Orlando from 1873 onwards. He had an ice cream parlor in downtown Orlando (near the present Church Street Station) about 1880. Anne Street became part of Highey Street.
Anno Street	Named for John C. Anno who had a clothing store west of Church Street for many years. Later became part of Hughey Street.
Beauclaure Street	Named for the daughter of Samuel Robinson. Later became part of Colonial Drive.
Hoone Street	Named for Cassius Boone, a descendant of Daniel Boone, who came to Orlando in 1870. He married Sarah Hughey, daughter of an early pioneer family. They lived on Lake Lucerne and named the street running from their home to Church Street for the family.
Central Avenue	Planned to be the dividing line between the north and south portions of Orlando.
Church Street	Named for a small board structure on the street which housed the school during the week and various church fellowships on weekends during the 1880s.
Delancy Street	Named for the pioneer Delaney family. James Delaney was a storekeeper, builder and postmaster in Orlando, arriving from Georgia in 1875.
Garland Avenue	Named for the Garland stove, popular in the 1880s.
Gentrude Street	Named for Charles Sweet's sister, Gertrade (Sweet) Newell. She was described as a beautiful woman with auburn hair and blue eyes, who played plano with her husband's (Harry A. Newell's) Orchestra for many dances in the area.
Gould Street	Named for Benjamin Gould who was an elder and founder of the First Presbyterian Church in Orlando, Gould Street became part of Garland Avenue in 1912:
Grace Street	Named for Grace, wife of Cassius Boone. Destroyed by the building of the Spessard Holland Expressway (East-West).
Haghey Street	Named for James P. Hughey, who arrived in Orlando in 1855 from Georgia. They had travelled by covered wagon with a group of 35 settlers. Hughey was the first mail carrier from Mellonville (now Sanford), with each trip taking 3 days.
Jefferson Street	Named for the family of Virginia (Epps) Shine, who was a great granddaughter of Thomas Jefferson.
Lovingston Street	Names for J. H. Livingston, who in 1880 was one of the group who bought 26 acres for the purpose of creating Greenwood Cemetery.

Main Street	Planned as the main street of Orlando, the name was changed to Magnolia in 1960.
Oak Street	Nemed for the many oak trees bordering the street. Later renamed Wall Street
Orange Avenue	So named because the street ended in an orange grove at the northern boundary of Orlando.
Pine Street	Named for the many pine trees growing in the area.
Poyntz Street	Named for Nathaniel Poyntz who was in the real estate business with James Parramore Poyntz Street became part of Colonial Drive in 1912.
Robinson Street	Names for Samuel Robinson, from Emmett, MI, who was a surveyor for Orange County for 17 years. He was responsible for planting the many oaks along Magnolis Avenue where he built his bome.
Resalind Street	Formeriy West Street, it was renamed in 1919 for the Rosalind Club, a lattice social club, which had formed in 1894. The Club bought lots on the street to build a Club House and requested the name change.
Shelby Street	Named for Dr. W. A. Shelby, noted for this liver pills, who practiced medicine in Orlando in its early days. Later became part of Hughey Street.
Shine Street	Named for Thomas J. Shine who was a Confederate veteran and early banker of Orimdo. His home at the corner of North Orange Avenue and Jefferson Street was the first in Orlando to have a bathroom and tennis court.
South Street	So named because it was the southern boundary of Orhuido in the 1880s.
Sweet Street	Named for Charles D. Sweet, who came to Orlando as a surveyor from Louisiana in 1873. He was the surveyor when Orlando was incorporated and named many of the streets after pioneer families. He was also mayor of Orlando in 1881 and planned to name the sast-west streets for Orlando mayors, but the practice was abandoned after naming Marks and Sweet Streets. Sweet Street became part of Colonial Drive in 1912.
Washington Street	Named for Dr. Washington Kilmer who arrived in Orlando in 1885 from New York. He was one of the first doctors to go to Tampa in 1887 to fight the yallow fever epidemic.
West Street	So named because it was the western boundary of Jacob Summertin's land. Renamed Rosalind Street in 1919.

Mosquito County, Florida 1830 Census

Mosquito County as formed in 1824, extending from Lake George on the St. Johns River to Lake Okeechobee and from a line running through Lake Apopka on the west to the St. Johns River on the east, encompassing what are now Orange, Seminole, Volusia counties and part of Brevard, Osceola, Flagler, Lake, Marion, Okeechobee, Polk, St. Lucie and Indian River counties.

The 1830 census of Mosquito County listed these inhabitants:

Anderson, George Balow, John S. Dummitt, Dougles Dunham, Al. F. Durley, James Durly, Daniel Hariot, Robert Hunter, Joseph Lee, Francis McRae, Duncan Osmond, Mrs. S. Peyster, William Roes, O. S. Sinuons, Charles W. Woodruff, Joseph

Researching Colonial Deeds for John Lockhart

(great great great grandfather of Alice Creel Ball)

[After a trip to Virginia, I surmised from the Bill of Sale in 1772, John Lockhart was selling out to joining the Revolutionary War. Because my John Lockhart's headstone says he was born in Hampshire County, I feel he was too young to be in the war and it was his father who sent. Wirt County, West Virginia history and other books state this John Lockhart, Jr., born 1766 was in the War service but they doubt it because of his age. I await confirmation from the National Archives for John Lockhart, Sr.]

In the Palestine Cemetery in Wirt County, West Virginia, are the headstones side by side of the graves of John Lockhart, my great great great grandfather born 5 August 1766 in Hampshire County, died 4 August 1832 and Christine Lockhart, his wife born 1767, died 27 August 1836.

Because of the above information, I decided to concentrate on Hampshire County, West Virginia. I found in the court house in Romney a Bill of Sale, Deed Book L to Q, Page 27, John Lockhart selling to William Stewart of Hampshire County, indian corn, fodder and a fodder house, acres of rye, a turnip patch, irons, church, linen wheel, a bedstead and all of the little articles he leaves behind, to the value of fifteen pounds, 11 November 1772.

Also in the Library in Romney is the following book"Abstracts of Virginia's Northern Neck Warrants and Surveys". While researching this Survey Abstract book by P. S. Joyner, I found the names of John Lockhart twelve times. Examples are the following:

Pg 45	6 November 1755	 18 December 1760 	Pilot John Lockhart
Pg. 49	5 May 1761 -	- 4 June 1761	Chain Carrier John Lockhart
Pg. 26	6 April 1775 -	- 13 June 1775	Pilot and Marker, Mr. John Lockhart

John Lockhart was in this Survey book from 1755 - 1755. Hampshire County was formed from Frederick County, Virginia in 1754.

I became curious as to what a CHAIN CARRIER was, the size of the chain, etc. I called three Surveyors in Romney but only received partial information, so in Winchester, Virginia, at the Handley Library I copied from a book on Colonial Surveys, "Surveyors and Statesmen Land Measuring in Colonial Virginia" by Sarah S. Hughes.

Based on the English statue pole, this decimal chain of 66 feet had one hundred links, with each tenth link marked by a brass ring.

Linear

Square

1 link	=	7.92 inches	1 sq. chain	=	16 poles
25 links	=	1 pole of 16.5 feet	10 sq. chains	=	1 acre
100 links	-	1 chain, 66 ft. or 4 poles	Sectors Office California
10 chains	=	1 furlong, 660 ft. or 40 poles
80 chains	=	1 mile

The surveyor did not bring all the essentials for the survey. His client brought the exact directions necessary to supplement the usually vague entry record and most important, the CHAINMEN. The fact that CHAINING was normally done by inexperienced farmers, instead of a trained crew, is of critical importance in understanding the condition under which surveyors worked. The origin of the custom of requiring the client to provide the CHAIN BEARERS is obscure.

Northern Neck Warrants specified that the surveyor should list the names of the "PILOT AND CHAINCARRIERS" employed, and the latter are nearly always found the end of the plats of this region." The PILOTS task was to guide the party through unknown territory. He was frequently a professional hunter, who also assumed responsibility for the men's fresh meat and safety. The MARKER As the title implies, chopped underbrush for the CHAINMEN. There seems to be no set fees for the work, anywhere from five shillings per survey to ten shilling per month. The Surveyor was also obligated to house and feed his survey crew. Hauling even the short two-pole iron chain through dense brush and woods was a hard and hazardous chore. Surveyors rode on horseback much of the day while CHAINMEN walked along the line. The different stitudes of those on horseback and on foot in the wilderness are reflected in William Byrds evaluation of a days work "Measuring and marking spent so much time that we could advance no further than eight miles and the CHAINCARRIERSthough that a great way".

From the above facts I have determined John Lockhart who was a CHAINCARRIER. PILOT AND MARKER, in the years 1755 - 1775 in Hampshire County, was the John Lockhart of Hampshire County who served in the Revolutionary War and was the FATHER of John Lockhart of Hampshire County, Wood County, Wirt County, Virginia (West Virginia).

Family of Stephen Ingalls

[The following is a word-for-word copy of a letter written about 1903 to Dr. Burleigh by Semanthis (Ingalls) Wood, daughter of Stephen Ingalls. Dr. Burleigh wrote a book about the Ingails family in 1903 but the submitter was unsure whether the letter was written before or after the book's publication. The submitter did put in some periods and commas and capitalized the first letters in what were obviously the first words in sentences.]

My great great great Grandfather lived on and owned a Small farm down a Steep hill near a Spring of water in a log huese off the road. The Ingalls family was very Stout and Strong to hift and Carry heavy burdens. The Second and the place and gave it to my Father to take care of him and his wife while they lived. Father was a Cooper. He built a large house up on the highway. He "keen" calculate and could Save his money. They had fifteen Children Twelve were grown people. I was horn eighteen fourteen Feb 24(29?) and was the weak one. They have all gone, I trust to Heaven. The first born died an infant. Henry was a farmer, had a big dairy. His wife made cheese with hired help. He married his cousin Orizza Wood. Had no children but like to have a large family and bountiful table so for his help and such as happened to call at meal time Ministers or Deacons. A steam Railroad was cut through the farm. He sold out got considerable "damage" and bought a place in the village an died near 88 years old. His wife died first. Martin was a Stout man and a good farmer and well Simuled between two villages. David was a farmer had a good dairy. They made cheese and butter. Lost thirteen caws oue fall. He thought they "were" poisoned by a Strange cow getting in. The oldest girl had rheumatism when she was quite young and was always lame. Rebecca was strong and "writer" that was before and after Harriet was a weaver took work from a Cotton factory in South Adams. Dyantha was Stout and Strong to help as was needful. Semantha for chores sewing and knitting. Brother Samuel was a school teacher. He took a shre with two partners in a woolen factory in North Adams. He was head of the Firm in buying and Selling. He thought that he was poisoned at an Inaugeration at Washington. 1 think it was Bucannons. Was Stokly about one year and died fifty nine years old. Fyra had a fever and died twelve years old by taking a severe cold and going to Sleep on the hay mow. Luther fell in to the old fireplace, burned and died three years old. Calvin was a strong man on the farm and was a charming speaker.

Book Reviews

Warren County Ohio Marriage Records, 1803-1834 compiled by Willard Heiss

This book has page after page of the lists of grooms and a list of brides in alphabetical order. Some of the more numerous sumames are:

Anderson	Brown	Collins	Fox	Hurin	Pugh
Bennett	Bunnell	Cox	Goodpasture	Montfort	Runion (Runyon)
Blackford	Clark	Davis	Gustin	Null	Voorhis
			Whitacre

This book would be of assistance to anyone researching Warren County, Ohio ancestors.

Haywood County, North Carolina Families

compiled by Alice R. Cook, 1993 Paperback, 154pps. Heritage Books, Inc., Bowie, Maryland

Alice Cook dedicates this work to " my young son Hugh J., in whose memory in 1974 this book began...", reminding us genealogy is family stories, not just names, dates and places. But if names, dates and places are your thing, and you have any connection to the western part of North Carolina, this neatly cross-indexed book is worth a quick look.

While it focuses on Haywood County, shifting borders mean there are names from many of the surrounding counties, too. While the "principal" names (mainly male heads of households) are listed alphabetically, an extensive index will allow you to quickly find any "buried" names in the various articles. A spot check did not turn up any missed names, but on one occasion a middle name appearing in the index was not in the article itself. This just means if you find a name you want, carefully check out all possible cross references, which naturally you would do anyway.

Cook occasionally uses a terse shorthand style that required close reading, but the book also is peppered with wonderful tidbits that can only come from close personal involvement with the area and extensive oral history taking," ...killed 21 October 1912 in early night by Sunburst train 100 yards beyond Bethel Ledbetter Place." Or ", frontier pathfinder, traveled with Daniel Boone to KY."

Now I am not sure why the alphabetical listing goes, on p. 58 from Mcgae to Moore to Mcintosh, and then on p. 70, where Moore comes up it says "see p.58" But given the masterful way Cook has handled thousands of entries, I'm willing to bet she has a good reason.

Central Florida Genealogical Society, Inc. P. O. Box 177 Orlando, Florida 32802-0177

Organized - The Central Florida Genealogical and Historical Society, Inc. was formed in 1969 and incorporated as a non-profit organization in 1981. The Society welcomes everyone with an interest in genealogy, the history of Florida and the United States as well as our ancestral nations, to further our objectives thru education and publications.

Meetings - Regular monthly meetings are held on the second Thursday, September thru May, 7:30 P.M. at the Marks Street Senior Center Auditorium, 99 E. Marks Street, Orlando, Florida. Exceptions to the date and place for meetings are designated by the President. All meetings are open to the public, visitors are welcome and members are encouraged to bring guests.

Membership

Individual member - $20.00 Family membership - $25.00

Membership begins the first day of the month, following acceptance and extends for one full year, and includes a subscription to the following Society publications:

Buried Treasures, a quarterly publication, featuring 24 pages of articles, book reviews, bible records, old letters, wills, etc. submitted by members.

Treasure Chest News, a newsletter published nine times a year (each issue is 8-10 pages in length), includes Society news, genealogy tips, dates of workshops/conference, etc.

For further information regarding membership, please write to CFGS, INC., P. O. Box 177, Orlando, FL 32802-0177

All members of the Publications Committee are volunteers who support each other, where needed, in various staff positions. The Committee meets monthly at the Orlando Public Library.

Permission is granted to quote or reprint any article or other material, either in whole or in part, provided credit is given to the Central Florida Genealogical Society, Inc., 'Buried Treasures' (including author, volume and date citation).

The Central Florida Genealogical Society, Inc. disclaims responsibility for statements, whether in fact or of opinion, made by contributors.
